SWEEP BY A CYCLONE

Destructive Storm Raging in the West.

HUNDREDS OF LIVES LOST.

Buildings Swept Out of Existence, Crushing and Mangling the Inmates—Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri Visited. Telegraph Wires Down and Particulars of the Destruction Impossible to Be Obtained—A Large Seven-Story Building in Chicago Blown Down and a Number of People Killed and Injured.

OMAHA, April 2.—Nebraska was swept by a cyclone Thursday night. The tornado struck the state early in the evening and left desolation in its wake. The extent of the destruction is not yet known, but reports received show that the thriving town of Nelson, the county seat of Nuckolls county, is laid waste, and many buildings, including two churches, are wrecked at Norfolk.

Reports from other points indicate that the storm swept northward and eastward from Nelson with great fury, but owing to the telegraph wires being prostrated it is impossible yet definitely to outline the track of the storm. The storm included in its track the town of Edgar and other places in Clay county, continuing on to Norfolk. It must have traversed over ten miles of some of the finest country of the state in Nuckolls, Clay, Fillmore, York, Polk, Platte and Madison counties.

Great efforts to secure news from these counties have been made, but the returns are meager.

From Clay Center comes the report that a cyclone passed through the center of Clay county between 6 and 7 o'clock Thursday night. The wind blew from south to north. It is reported that at Edgar a number of houses were blown down, and the depot wrecked and two railway employees killed, but the report can not be confirmed.

From Wahoo comes the news that a very heavy wind, but probably not a part of the cyclone, struck that place, and swept through Saunders county about 8 o'clock.

It did great damage to barns, houses and other small frame buildings, also killing some stock. A farmer, whose name can not be learned, was overtaken by the storm while returning from town and was struck by lightning and killed. The damage done is estimated at $10,000.

At Norfolk it tore down a number of houses and broke many windows. A tent occupied by a family named Palmer was blown away and a little child was seriously injured. The Episcopal church and the residence of C. G. Miller were demolished. Falling debris seriously injured two of the Miller children. The Episcopal church is a total wreck and can not be repaired. The Congregational church had the bell and dome blown from it and landed in the street below. The church was otherwise damaged, probably in all to the amount of $2,500. At the time there was about twenty-five teachers in the building.

At Sutton considerable damage was done; Joseph Needon had his family, including eight children, in his house when the building was crushed and scattered all over the prairie, but not a scratch or bruise was inflicted on any of the family. Messrs. Trollope and Pearson had their barns and houses blown away.

In Omaha the wind played havoc with the wires again—most of the day not a wire could be used—all wires west are down. Many small buildings were blown down but no one was injured.

It was the worst windstorm visiting Nebraska in years.

THROUGH KANSAS.

The Storm Deals Death and Destruction Across the Entire State.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 2.—About 8 o'clock Thursday night a tornado struck the western border line of Kansas, near South Haven, Sumner county, and ball-like it bounded through Sumner and Butler counties, demolishing everything in its way and killing and maiming scores of people. The telegraph wires are so demoralized that it is impossible to get a title of information necessary to base an exact calculation, but the death toll will reach fully fifty.

From the country around South Haven, John Moorehouse and one child, Mrs. Frank Shepard and John Bernmaster, wife and three children are reported among the dead, while scores of others are severely injured. Dwellings on fully thirty farms have been demolished.

Joseph Showalter's house was destroyed near Wellington and thirteen people badly injured. A little north of this the storm wrecked the house of William Little, killed him and four children and fatally injured his wife. Samuel Butterworth, another farmer, lost his home and the lives of himself and two grandchildren.

At the town of Towanda only one house remains, while James Bailey, John Blake, George Blake, Herchel Culp and J. D. Godfrey are known to be among the dead. Many others are missing and supposed to be dead. A dozen more are dying and thirty or forty are severely wounded. These all lay all night long in the drenching rain without protection after the storm.

At Augusta, William Rhoads, Harmon Hoskins and Albert Barnes were killed, Willie Roads being dragged from his father's arms and dashed to death against a tree.

From Ottawa, Olathe and Salina come reports of severe winds which blew down many houses and destroyed much property, injuring several people, but causing no deaths.

At Leavenworth, Kan., the opera house and two large manufacturing establishments were unroofed while many plate glass windows were destroyed.

Other small towns are reported demolished, but as there is no telegraphic communication the full extent is not known.

The reports from the western part of Kansas are very meagre on account of the lack of wire facilities, but it is evident that much damage has been done with great loss of life.

In this city the Western Union Telegraph company is greatly crippled and has only one wire east and none west.

ON THROUGH MISSOURI.

Great Damage Done at St. Joseph and at St. Louis.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., April 2.—The storm raging in the west struck St. Joseph at midnight Thursday, and at sundown last night had inflicted damage to the extent of at least $50,000. Nearly every house in the city is damaged. The immense barn at the King Hill stock farm is totally destroyed. Loss, $5,000.

The smoke stack and south wall of the new Moran packing house at the stockyards were blown down. At least a dozen business blocks were unroofed, as was the immense factory of Tootle, Hosen & Company, the 500 operatives rushing panic-stricken to the street. All the public schools were closed before noon. At 1 o'clock two of the buildings were unroofed and the south wing of the Everett school, one of the largest in the city, was demolished.

Lilly Bushnell, aged seven, was caught in the falling walls of a residence and seriously injured. Lee Salisbury, a teamster, was blown over with his wagon and collar bone broken. The steamers Yazel and Savannah and the ferry boat Belle of Brownsville were driven ashore and badly damaged. The business streets are strewn with wreckage. It is impossible to give an accurate description of the damage and the losses.

Reports from all parts of Kansas and western Missouri points that the damage is very great.

In St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, April 2.—The heavy windstorm which passed over this city shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon caused considerable damage to property in the southern portion of the city. While workmen were at work on a building at 1540 South Broadway, the west wall was blown down by the gale and four of the laborers seriously hurt.

Henry Lnick, a German bricklayer, was hurled to the ground amid a pile of flying brick. He was almost buried, and when he was extricated it was found that his spine had received injuries that may prove fatal.

Theodore Prepper, a carpenter, had his right shoulder-blade broken by a flying brick. He is twenty-eight years of age. He was taken to his home.

Emile Schmidt, aged twenty-eight, slightly cut and bruised about the head.

Wenzel Mazelback, badly bruised about the head and face.

The wind blew at the rate of fifty miles an hour, and was followed by a heavy rain.

TRAIN BLOWN OFF THE TRACK.

Four People Badly Injured and a Number of Others Bruised.

BURLINGTON, Ia., April 2.—The Burlington and Northwestern narrow gauge passenger train, which arrives at 7 p. m., was blown from the track, forty miles north of here, by the high wind that had been blowing across Iowa all day.

Express Messenger H. A. Russell, of Burlington, cut and bruised about the body.

J. D. Stevenson, passenger, of Hedrick, Ia., cut about head and badly bruised.

Mrs. Hicks, passenger, of Hedrick, Ia., body painfully bruised.

A dozen other passengers sustained minor bruises.

The train was running at full speed, about thirty miles south of Oskaloosa, when a hurricane struck it broadside, blowing it completely off the track.

IT STRIKES CHICAGO.

Several Buildings Blown Down and a Number of Lives Lost.

CHICAGO, April 2.—A terrific wind and thunder storm passed over the city at 6 o'clock last night, wrecking buildings and demolishing outhouses and prostrating telegraph wires. The seven-story brick building at Nos. 14 and 16 Pearce street, on the west side, was struck by the wind and crushed like an egg shell. The building was surrounded by one and two-story frame and brick buildings, the homes of laboring men, which were also wrecked, killing and injuring the occupants.

The Killed.

Following is a complete list of the dead:

Mrs. Eliza Allen, an invalid, 12 Pearce street, crushed about head and body.

Mrs. J. L. Gowan, 12 Pearce street, crushed about the abdomen.

Horace Mott, five years old, 12 Pearce street, smothered.

Mary Walsh, twenty years old, 12 Pearce street, a niece of Mrs. Gowan, is still in the ruins.

The Injured.

The injured are:

James Gowan, thirty years old, 12 Pearce street, leg broken and hurt internally; may live.

Alice Hewlett, eight years old, 18 1-2 Pearce street, crushed about legs, head and body; can not live.

Mrs. Ada Keown, 313 West Harrison street, visiting the Hewletts, hurt about the head and injured internally; will die.

Mrs. James Mott, also fatally hurt.

Mamie Mott, ten years old, bad wounds on the head.

Mary Wigant, 12 Pearce street, crushed terribly about the legs and body.

Horace Wigant, an infant, badly crushed about the head.

James McGowan, his wife, and son William, ten years old, are supposed to be buried in the ruins.

The building, a seven-story brick, fronted on 14 and 16 Pearce street, and was 118 feet long by 50 wide. It had just been erected by Young & Kent, manufacturers of brass work, and was practically completed, the roof having been finished this week. It was the center of a mass of one and two-story frame buildings, nearly all of which were occupied by poor people.

Immediately in the rear of the building was a two-story brick house, the home of Thomas Hewlett, who lived there with his wife and nine children. They were at supper and were entertaining as guests Miss Emma Hope, a relative, and her friend, Mrs. Ada Keown. When the building fell the force of the terrible mass of brick, iron, wood and plaster seemed to be directed rearward, completely burying the structure. All the inmates were killed or injured.

Frank Dilloney, who happened to be passing on the street and was an eyewitness to the disaster, said that he first noticed the rear wall bulging out. The rain was driving in torrents and there had just been a fearful gust of wind. There was a loud crash and he was conscious of a deafening noise which continued for some time, as the mass and masses of debris piled on the smaller structures. Then arose cries and screams of those of the buried unfortunates who were not dead or unconscious beneath the tons of fallen walls. An alarm of fire was turned in, and as soon as the nature of the calamity was appreciated, assistance began to arrive from all directions and the work of tearing away the wreckage was promptly begun.

ATTEMPTED DESTRUCTION.

BROOKLYN, April 2.—At 12:45 this morning a terrific explosion occurred in front of the residence of General Horatio King, on Willow street. Several buildings in the immediate vicinity were damaged and the sidewalk was torn up for a considerable length. Great excitement prevailed in the neighborhood. A hasty examination revealed the fact that the explosion was due to the discharge of a dynamite bomb. When this startling information was carried among the waiting throngs of people they became panic-stricken.

General King's residence is in the most fashionable quarter of the city. The windows on both sides of the street were shattered and the sound of the explosion was heard for miles. Among those who lived in the neighborhood are the Rev. Lyman Abbott and ex-Mayor David B. Whitney. They and their families were a good deal alarmed. Those who reached the sidewalk just after the explosion occurred, saw two men running away and the remnants of a burning fuse lying near the curbstone in the gutter. Nobody was hurt, so far as is known.

Destructive Fire.

ERIE, Pa., April 2.—A destructive fire broke out in the Merchant flouring mills and elevator last night, the girls employed in the building barely escaping with their lives. A strong southwest wind rendered the small fire department almost useless, the Downing baby carriage works and several small houses being consumed. The loss will aggregate over $200,000.

CHILDREN TORTURED

Barbarous Punishment Meted Out to Incurables

AT THE NEWARK, N. J., CITY HOME

An Electric Punishment Which Differs from the Electrocutions at Sing Sing Prison Only in the Fact That It Does Not Shock to Death.

NEW YORK, April 2.—The Newark city home, at Verona, an institution where incorrigible boys and girls are placed to be reformed, has adopted a lightning-like way of punishing the obstreperous youngsters, and a great howl is going up from the "home."

If a boy cuts up he is led into a dark chamber. There an electric punishment takes place which differs from the electrocutions at Sing Sing prison only in the fact that the boy is not shocked to death, but only to a degree that will teach him to behave himself hereafter.

An electrode is put behind his ear at the base of the skull. Another electrode is placed at some other part of his body. A current of lightning is turned loose, and the naughty little rascal howls with all his might till the superintendent thinks he has enough and won't be naughty any more.

The bad girls are shocked in the same manner. This punishment is the invention of Dr. Whiteside, the "home's" physician, who was at one time employed at Sing Sing.

The first victim was an incorrigible boy, who laughed at the whip and a bread-and-water diet. Superintendent Harrison took the boy into a little dark room with Dr. Whiteside.

The only furniture the room contained was a small table. The boy saw no whip, but instead a queer-looking thing in the shape of an electric battery, which he did not understand. The doctor and the superintendent proceeded with their mysterious arrangements of wires, electrodes, etc., and the boy began to get frightened.

When Harrison applied the electrode to the boy's skull the little fellow was nearly dead with fright and trembled like a leaf, so that the two men made him sit down in a chair. Suddenly, when the lad had come to the conclusion that he was to be murdered in cold blood, Dr. Whiteside turned the switch and threw the whole force of the electric current into the boy's body. There was a buzzing noise.

Then the doctor picked up the little whip-like instrument, which constituted the other pole of the battery, touched the boy's flesh suddenly at intervals, making him jump a full two feet from the chair each time and scream with pain and fright. The doctor applied the current half a hundred times, wherever the bare flesh presented itself, on hands, arms, neck or face. Every time the current was closed the boy shrieked, believing his last hour had come.

When he had been made half dead with fright he was freed and allowed to fly from his tormentors. An investigation showed that the battery used had a voltage of 15, which gives a youth a terrible shock.

Mental Wreck from Religion.

RICHMOND, Ind., April 2.—Dr. J. W. Hunt, a prominent physician of Anderson, and surgeon there for the Cincinnati, Wabash and Michigan road, yesterday brought to the insane asylum here a fair testimonial to the effects of sensational religion in the person of Miss Clara Paxson. Miss Paxson is about twenty years of age and belongs to a good family at Anderson. She was a girl of great personal beauty and highly accomplished. During one of Mrs. Woodworth's "revivals" there, some four years ago, she became deeply impressed. She kept getting worse until now she is a hopeless mental wreck.

Insane Prisoner Kills Another.

CENTREVILLE, Ia., April 2.—In the jail Thursday evening was an unknown man supposed to be harmlessly insane. While Robert Stewart, who was serving out a sentence for selling liquor, was reading, the insane man picked up a board lying in the hall and beat his head into a jelly. The other prisoners, finding they could not save Stewart, fled to their cells to save themselves, and were furiously attacked with a hot poker, but escaped with a few burns.

Killed His Mother and Aunt.

HOUSTON, April 2.—Walter E. Shaw, the supposed murderer of his mother and her aged sister, who were found at their residence with their throats cut, has been traced to Galveston and captured. He was too intoxicated to give any account of himself. His underclothes were covered with blood. There is little doubt about his guilt. No motive is assigned for his horrible act.

Fatal Fire in a Millinery Store.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., April 2.—Miss McCarthy's millinery store was burned yesterday, and Mrs. Easby, who attempted to enter the building to save her six-year-old daughter, was killed, together with the child, by an explosion of powder in a sporting goods store adjoining. Two or three other buildings were burned and the total loss is $70,000.

Fell Under the Wheels.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., April 2.—Daniel Igo, a prominent citizen of Yatesville, near Shenandoah, aged twenty-six years, while attempting to board a moving train on the Lehigh Valley railroad, at noon yesterday, fell under the wheels and his head was completely severed from his body.

Death of Justice Drake.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Hon. Charles D. Drake, late chief justice of the United States court of claims, was found dead in his bed yesterday morning.

SATURDAY, APRIL 2, 1892.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

THE Owen News is brief and very pointed. It remarks that "Hill's boom flashed like a meteor, and busted like a hot rock."

THE Milwaukee Journal remarks that Cleveland's nomination would make Wisconsin "as certainly Democratic as any State in the union."

It begins now to look very much like Colonel Henry Watterson will have to revise his Hill-Cleveland stand-and-come-west manifesto to the Democracy.

TO THE many aspiring and worthy Republicans of Kentucky who have worked their way up front, Boss Bradley says: "Stand back; I'm running this machine yet."

IT is suggested by Tammany that Senator Hill go to the Chicago convention and personally nominate Cleveland. "What a stroke of politics that would be," remarks an exchange. It would make Hill pretty solid for 1896, too.

THE Legislature of Kentucky has been in session about three months, has cost $90,000 and has passed but two acts of general importance. These law-makers come high, but no well regulated State can get along very well without them. Thanks to the new Constitution, however, future sessions are limited to sixty days.

KENTUCKY'S Appellate Courts make some very queer rulings. Not long since the Jailer of Madison County refused to give up a prisoner on an order from the County Judge of Wolfe County. The Judge fined the Jailer $500 for contempt and the Superior Court now decides that the Jailer performed his sworn duty in refusing to surrender his prisoner, but that the fine must stand. In other words "you'll be damned if you do and you'll be damned if you don't."

NORTH DAKOTA Democrats demand a revision and reduction of the present tariff, and that taxation be lowered to meet just requirements of necessary public expenses. They also urge the passage of Senator Palmer's constitutional amendment "providing for the election of United States Senators by a direct vote of the people." That platform has the right ring to it. They need not be afraid of going before the people under such a banner. They are flying the right colors.

H. C. PAYNE Chairman of the Wisconsin Republican Committee, said in Washington last week that "Wisconsin is a very doubtful State." "It is more than doubtful," he continued, "and the burden of carrying it this year is on the Republicans." The burden of carrying several more of their hitherto safe States is on the G. O. P. this year. The Republicans know very well that they have got to fight hard for Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, and others also next November. Democrats are carrying the war into the West and Northwest.

Commercial Club.

At the annual meeting of the Commercial Club held last evening the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—W. LaRue Thomas.
First Vice President—F. S. Owens.
Second Vice President—George T. Hunter.

The following Directors were elected to serve for two years: R. L. Browning, E. H. Martin, C. C. Dohy, J. L. Browning, R. A. Carr and James H. Hall. The Directors holding over are: E. A. Robinson, T. A. Keith, T. A. Davis, H. C. Sharp, M. C. Russell and J. I. Salisbury.

It was resolved by the members to try and do something to infuse new life into the organization, and the Secretary was ordered to proceed to collect up the dues for the past year, and call the attention of the members to the law of the club in regard to the non-payment of dues. The club resolved to enforce the law, and it is hoped that all members will be ready to pay up when called on by the Secretary. The Directors elected W. R. Warder Secretary and John Duley Treasurer.

A Remarkable Cure of Rheumatism.
Messrs. C. and Sherman, of Alexandria, Texas, write us regarding a remarkable cure of rheumatism there as follows: "The wife of Mr. Wm. Pruitt, the Postmaster here had been bed-ridden with rheumatism for several years. She could get nothing to do her any good. We sold her a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and she was completely cured by its use. We refer any one to her to verify this statement." Fifty-cent bottles for sale by Power & Reynolds.

KENTUCKY REPUBLICANS.

Their Delegates to Minneapolis "Recommended," Not Instructed, for Harrison.

Since the Republican State convention adjourned there has been considerable comment concerning paragraph No. 3 in the resolutions indorsing President Harrison. After cordially indorsing his administration, the resolution recommends that the delegates vote for his renomination by the next Republican National convention. There were several ardent admirers of Blaine on the committee, and the Louisville Times says: "It will be noticed that while the delegates are 'recommended' to vote for President Harrison's renomination, they are not instructed to do so. Moreover, it is not stated how long they are to vote for him, and leaves it in the hands of Messrs. Bradley, Denny, Feland and Jackson."

"The convention passed the resolutions with a whoop," continues the Times, "and it is doubtful whether one-tenth of the delegates knew what was the wording of the resolution No. 3. Not so with Messrs. Yerkes, Finley and Wheat. When they drew that plank they knew just what they were doing, as all three are built that way. The question naturally arises was there not some motive in 'recommending' instead of instructing the delegates?"

Dr. J. M. Logan, of Carter, Thomas L. Walker, of Owen, W. H. Clark, of Jackson, and J. M. Beatty, of Meade, are the alternate delegates-at-large.

W. H. Morrow, of Pulaski, and Wood Dunlap, of Lexington, were selected as candidates for electors from the State-at-large. J. F. Franks, of Laurel, and H. B. Burton, of Breckinridge, were elected assistant electors by acclamation.

The new State Central Committee is composed of the following:

State-at-Large—Dr. Benjamin Letcher, Henderson, and David G. Colson, Middlesboro. First District—W. J. Deboe, Marion. Second District—A. H. Anderson, Hopkinsville. Third District—W. S. Taylor, Morgantown. Fourth District—O. M. Barnett, Hartford. Fifth District—W. E. Riley, Louisville. Sixth District—D. W. Comptone, Covington. Seventh District—R. A. Hancock, Lexington. Eighth District—John W. Yerkes, Danville. Ninth District—Edward Damm, Brooksville. Tenth District—A. H. Stewart, Prestonsburg. Eleventh District—R. D. Hill, Williamsburg.

The new committee elected John W. Yerkes, of Danville, Chairman; W. E. Riley, of Louisville, Secretary; R. A. Hancock, Vice Chairman; David G. Colson, of Middlesboro, Treasurer.

The Louisville Times tells the following: "John W. Zoller (editor of the Mt. Olivet Tribune-Democrat), experienced considerable difficulty in placing Judge Deming in nomination. Every time he said Mr. Chairman, somebody interrupted him, and he unwisely turned to see what was wanted of him. At each break the situation was so ridiculous that it provoked a storm of laughter, and Chairman Wood split the table in an effort to restore order. Finally Senator Parker, W. A. Morrow and others, after appealing vainly to the delegates for free speech, etc., explained that Mr. Zoller was sick and would be unable to proceed until silence was obtained. The Hon. Pat Rush then got up and brought down the house by saying: 'Mr. Chairman, if the gentleman is sick let the convention pension him and take care of him. If he's going to make that speech let him make it, if not, make him step down off that chair.'"

One of the last things done by the convention was the adoption of a resolution favoring the Worlds Fair bill now pending in the Legislature.

A colored delegate wanted a resolution passed denouncing the separate coach bill but he was ruled out of order and called down. Colonel Bradley's World's Fair resolution was just as much out of order but it went through.

Neuralgia Cured in Fifteen Minutes.

Mr. J. S. Sturtevant, editor of the Wapak (Wis.) Post, says: "Last night Chamberlain's Pain Balm cured my wife of neuralgia of the face and tooth in fifteen minutes. We would not be without it." Fifty-cent bottles for sale by Power & Reynolds.

Here and There.

Messrs. W. H. and Daniel W. Osborne, of Tuckahoe, have returned from a visit to friends in Bourbon.

Mrs. Conroy and her daughter, Miss Mary, of Mt. Sterling, are guests of the family of Mr. John Shea, of Fourth street.

THE MARKETS.

CINCINNATI TOBACCO MARKET.

[Thursday.]
The "breaks" were quite light, being 185 bbls of old and 396 of new, making 581 bbls, which was 31 less than Thursday of last week. There was a fair attendance of buyers, and they were bidding pretty well, particularly on the low grades. Old trash and lugs were in good demand, and the market rather firm—prices generally acceptable to holders. Common and medium old was in rather fair demand, and the market dull. No good or choice on sale. There was a very fair demand for new, and prices were steady and reasonably firm. Of the 185 bbls (old) 18 sold from $1.50 to $3.85, 62 from $4 to $5.85, 71 from $6 to $7.75, 18 from $8 to $9.70, 10 from $10 to $11.25, 5 from $12 to $14 and 1 at $18.75. Of the 396 bbls (new) 31 sold from $2 to $3.95, 128 from $4 to $5.25, 92 from $6 to $7.30, 34 from $8 to $9.75, 21 from $10 to $11.75, 26 from $12 to $14.75 and 1 at $16.

MAY BE A SCORE

Of Lives Lost in the Ohio River Disaster--Exact Number Unknown.

Divers Searching the Sunken Vessel for Dead Bodies--None Recovered Yet.

[By Telegraph to the BULLETIN.]

CINCINNATI, April 2.—The greatest difficulty is experienced in finding out exactly how many lives were lost in the Golden Rule fire Thursday night on the river. It is definitely settled that Nellie Maloney, Buck Warner, Frank Riley, William Morrison, Mat Homer and four unknown roustabouts have perished. Mrs. O'Leary and a man named Monroe are known to be missing.

John Clarkman, who was the colored porter on the "Rule," and ran twenty years with Captain Shinkle, says he had noticed that an unusually large number of ladies and several children were aboard the boat. He believes that more passengers went down than has been supposed. From the fact that there have been no inquiries for baggage he judges that more passengers than Miss Maloney perished.

Captain Shinkle, however, believes firmly that none other of the passengers failed to reach shore.

John Nairn, of 40 Lock street, and Jones Wheatley, colored, of 240 East Sixth street, called at Hammond street station at noon Friday and stated that they were positive that William Madison and a roustabout named Monroe were burned to death. They were working with the men, and say that they did not escape.

Both men are positive that there perished in the hold at least five deck hands, who were working in the rear part when the alarm was given.

Nairn and Wheatley were at the hold when the cry of fire was raised. They ran for their lives and escaped, but they say they were the only ones who got out safely.

It is impossible to tell how many unfortunates perished in the hull.

Stories are out to the effect that there might have been as many as eighteen men in the hold, nine on each side.

As the mate is dead, there is no one to tell this, and nothing positive will be known until the hull is reached by the diver.

There were not less than five, and it is known that at times in a hurry eighteen men can be used in the hold of a steamer, especially when the cargo is heavy and the boat is about to leave.

Word has been sent to all the river towns to keep a sharp lookout for floaters.

Diver Earhart arrived at 11 a. m. on the Ohio. He stated that as the wreck lay directly in the current it would be difficult to get at it. He at once went into consultation with the insurance people, and last evening began his work. His first dive disclosed the fact that the rear part of the boat was rather well preserved. He thinks that the bodies, if there are any, are in the bow, and toward that point he will endeavor to work. He is aided by his partner, Jack Johnson.

Parties owing the firm will confer a favor by calling and settling their accounts. dtf

THE HOUSE RECEDES

And Passes the McCain Tobacco Bill As it Came From the Senate.

In the House Friday morning Mr. Bailey called up the McCain Tobacco bill, which had been reported back from the Senate, and moved that the House recede from its amendment. The motion prevailed by a vote of 45 to 34. The bill now goes to the Governor for his approval.

The resolution providing for the erection of a monument over the remains of Joel T. Hart came up and failed. It did not get the constitutional majority.

A motion to reconsider the Revisory Commission's chapter, on Citizens, Expatriation and Aliens, was passed, as was also the chapter on Arbitration and Awards. A number of bills were advanced on the calendar.

Four new bills were introduced in the House yesterday, as follows:

A bill to authorize the county courts of the several counties of this Commonwealth to submit propositions for removing county seats to the legal voters of the respective counties.

A bill to amend and reform the common school laws of this Commonwealth.

A bill relating to the execution of prisoners condemned to be hanged. This bill provides that all executions in the future take place inside the walls of the penitentiary.

The Senate confirmed the appointment of Judge Gardner to succeed Judge Macey as State Inspector. The rest of the day's session was spent in considering the election bill.

Senator Stewart, probably the leading Republican member, voted in favor of the bill requiring separate coaches for colored people.

The House Committee of the Whole adopted a substitute offered by Dr. Frazee to a clause in the Revenue bill. The substitute provides that hereafter taxes not paid before November 1 shall be considered delinquent.

BALLENGER, the jeweler, has secured more commodious quarters just east of Mitchell, Finch & Co.'s Bank, and will move into the new store soon. In the meantime you can secure anything in the jewelry line at his old stand.

THE Kentucky Central authorities have not yet decided whether they will build the switch to the site of the proposed glass works in the East End. The parties interested in the project are waiting on the railroad company.

THE municipal election at Manchester next Monday promises to be lively and exciting. The Democrats and Republicans put tickets in the field several days ago. This week a citizens' ticket was nominated on this platform: "The better regulation of municipal affairs, especially as to the liquor traffic." Richard Harris, formerly of this city, is the citizens' nominee for Marshal.

MRS. W. A. BAKER, of Shelby County, placed a claim of $1,090 in the hands of attorneys at Cedar Rapids, Iowa. It was finally collected, and they sent her $90, retaining the small sum of $1,000 as their fee. In the letter accompanying the remittance the lawyers explained that they sent this amount merely because they wished to attest their fairness, but assured her that they ought to have charged $1,500 for their services.

DR. M. D. HALSEY, who has lately created so much interest in Falmouth, Brooksville, Mt. Olivet and other places by painlessly extracting hundreds of teeth by the Odontunder process, is now in our city, and has placed his famous anesthetic in the hands of Drs. C. W. Wardle and DeWitt C. Franklin, who will hereafter extract teeth by this process. This system renders extracting practically painless in every instance, without producing unconsciousness or bad results.

The Stockholders of Maysville and Bracken and Stockholders of Maysville and Lexington Turnpike Road Companies are hereby notified that the Annual Meeting for the election of officers will take place at the office of Duley & Baldwin, Court Street, Maysville, Ky., MONDAY, APRIL 4, 1892, at 10 and 11 o'clock a. m., respectively. W. W. HALLOWIN, resident and Sup't.

OVERCOME BY GAS.

Narrow Escape from Death of Three Washington Men.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Edward Fitzgibbons and Clarence Mills, employees at the Capitol, were sent into a vault under the western staircase yesterday afternoon to repair a leak. They uncapped the gas main and then tried to put on another cap, but the gas poured out so suddenly that Fitzgibbons was overcome and dropped the cap.

His companion was almost overcome, but made a break for the mouth of the vault. He fell once, but getting a breath of fresh air at the bottom of the floor, made another attempt, and finally escaped from the vault. His feeble calls for help were answered. Henry W. Taylor, assistant engineer in the house engine room, responded and immediately went into the vault to rescue Fitzgibbons. He, too, was overcome and both men were taken out in an unconscious condition. They were lifted out through a grating and were laid out on the grass.

The employees immediately gathered around them and applied restoratives. Fitzgibbons and Taylor were almost gone and Mills was barely able to speak. Taylor, the man who risked his own life to save Fitzgibbons, and succeeded in saving him, is a man of powerful frame, and soon returned to consciousness, but he was delirious for some time. While the work of resuscitation was going on the terraces were lined with people watching the operation, and every window in the Capitol, looking out in the street, was crowded with curious but sympathetic onlookers.

The men were trying to make the new gas connection, and in doing so unscrewed the wrong cap—the cap of a large pipe filled with gas—which rushed out and in a few seconds filled the narrow vault in which the men were working.

Taylor, the rescuer, remained in a serious condition so long that the doctor finally ordered him removed through the engine room and placed at a door opening into one of the immense ventilating stands which supplies the house with cold air. All the men are getting along well.

EPIDEMIC OF SUICIDES.

Three Attempts at Self-Destruction Within Ten Hours.

DAYTON, O., April 2.—An epidemic of suicide has struck this city and left a record of three attempts at self-destruction within ten hours, one of which was successful.

Yesterday afternoon Henry Long, a pork packer west of the city, blew out his brains with a rifle.

Last night, through despondency, Colonel Harley Sage, of Williams street, attempted to end his life by shooting, but will probably recover. The bullet was aimed at his heart, but went wide of its mark and penetrated the body below that organ.

About the same hour Mrs. Benjamin Eshelman, of West Fifth street, attempted to shuffle off by drinking a quantity of ammonia. Her recovery is also hoped for.

Bold White Cappers.

COLUMBUS, O., April 2.—White Caps are operating in this city right under the noses of the police. Alf McCoy, who keeps a boarding house in North Columbus, and is in the habit of abusing his wife, was taken out by indignant neighbors Wednesday and given an ice cold bath, and threatened with something worse unless he desisted.

Hung His Brother in Play.

VIENNA, April 2.—A school boy named Thorand played "Schneider" with his younger brother in their home here. While trying to imitate the execution of the murderer he let the rope get caught and his brother was suspended two feet from the floor. Before the elder boy could summon help, his brother was dead.

The President's Reply Sent.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—It is understood that the president's reply to Lord Salisbury's note of March 26 was transmitted through Sir Julian Pauncefote late Thursday night. Nothing has been made public by which any idea can be formed as to the character of this communication. It is said to be quite voluminous.

Italy and the World's Fair.

ROME, April 2.—Premier Rudini has written a letter approving the proposed participation by Italian artists in the Chicago world's fair and promising the moral support of the government. The government, he said, would facilitate in every possible manner the transportation and safe keeping of the Italian exhibits.

Deeming in Melbourne Jail.

MELBOURNE, April 2.—Deeming, the murderer, arrived in Melbourne yesterday in the steamer Ballarat. An immense crowd awaited him, but the wharf and the streets were strongly guarded by police, and he was safely escorted to jail. The crowd hooted at the prisoner, but attempted no violence.

North Dakota Grain Damaged.

JAMESTOWN, N. D., April 2.—The farmers in North Dakota are just beginning to realize the extent of damage done their grain, in stack as well as in shock, the past winter. That there will be millions of bushels of grain unfit for market this spring in the northwest can not be questioned.

Entire Family Cremated.

BERLIN, April 2.—A horrible accident is reported from Freiburg, in the grand duchy of Baden. Through some cause unknown, petroleum in the house became ignited, last night, and the house caught fire. The flames spread so swiftly that not one of the family of eight persons occupying the house escaped. All were consumed with the dwelling.

Struck by a Falling Beam.

PORTSMOUTH, O., April 2.—Frank Griver, an employee of the Burgess steel and iron works, met with a probably fatal accident by the falling of a beam on a large derrick. He was struck across the shoulders, almost breaking his neck. He was removed to his home where he lies in a precarious condition.

VERY CHESTNUTTY.

This Thing of Negro Murderers Going Straight to Heaven When Hung.

FAIRBURN, Ga., April 2.—Walter Cook, a negro, was hanged in the jail yard here at 11 o'clock Friday morning. His neck was broken by the fall and he died in twelve minutes. Over 10,000 people witnessed the execution.

Cook died gamely and expressed belief that he was going straight to heaven.

Cook shot and killed his employer, Andrew Kaiser, a well known planter in October, last year. The object of the murder was robbery.

Found Dead in Bed.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 2.—Bertha Psholl, a domestic in the Millikan's home, took strychnine Thursday night. She was found dead Friday morning. Four sealed and stamped letters lay by her side. One to Mr. Millikan, in a trembling hand, written after the poison was taken, directing him to mail letters, and closing, "I took this at 9:15 p. m." She had lived in Shelbyville. A letter still unopened is addressed to John Baxter, a street car driver.

Rapid Growth of a Tree.

SEYMOUR, Ind., April 2.—Just fifty-four years ago Blaze Robertson built a log cabin in the woods on the farm that he now occupies, five miles west of Seymour. In hauling the logs he found a sycamore sprout in his way, and attempted to pull it up by the roots for an ox gad, but failed. Last week he cut the same sprout, then a tall tree, four feet in diameter at the stump and sound to the core, for lumber.

Killed in a Stone Quarry.

RICHMOND, Ind., April 2.—Nathan Smith, twenty-eight years old, of New Paris, O., was killed in his father's stone quarry yesterday. The derrick broke, letting a big stone fall on him, crushing him flat. He had just been married.

Atlanta, April 2.—General George Lester, attorney general of Georgia, is dead. He was a Confederate soldier and has held many positions of prominence. He was in the Confederate congress.

The Observant Woman.

"A person who makes it a point to study other people can form interesting conclusions," remarked the observant woman to her companion as they sat in the street car.

"Indeed?" replied the latter with interest.

"Yes, indeed! Now notice the girl across the aisle. Ordinary people would see nothing special about her, but I can tell that she is a convent bred girl."

"How can you tell that?"

"I'll speak to her," replied the woman's companion, "and see if you are right."

Then she turned to the convent bred girl and asked:

"I beg your pardon, but if you are acquainted with this portion of the city, will you tell me how far it is yet to Franklin street?"

The shy creature lifted her eyes to her questioner, and in a low, sweet tone, replied:

"What yer say?"

Then the observant woman said that the next corner was where she wished to get off.—New York Sun.
